NEW UNION BUILDING

A Chance for Loyalty

THE campaign for a memorial fund of at least one million dollars, which passed through its first phase on March 8 in the over-subscription of the campus goal by undergraduates and faculty members, had its inception among the alumni and former students of Indiana University. After being proposed and endorsed by the Alumni Association at its 1920 meeting, a definite step forward was taken on June 7, 1921, when a resolution was adopted by the association.

In accordance with the provisions of the resolution, W. A. Alexander, newly appointed librarian, was named as executive secretary of the Memorial Fund, an executive committee of twenty-two members was appointed, and active preparations for the campaign begun.

The Union building as proposed would incorporate most of the features of the Union buildings already in use at other universities with variations to meet conditions peculiar to Indiana University.

The crying need for women's dormitories has long been realized by those in touch with campus affairs, and will be remedied by the Memorial.

The proposed Stadium is designed to release Jordan Field from the demands of intercollegiate athletics, making room for the proper expansion of intramural athletics, and provide a complete athletic equipment.

Indiana's greatest need, an auditorium, is to be provided for by the Memorial Fund, it is hoped.

Almost half of the proposed million dollars was subscribed by the student body and faculty in a two-day campaign in March. Preparations for carrying the campaign to friends and alumni of the University were undertaken immediately following the campus campaign.

THE CAGE OF LOYALTY

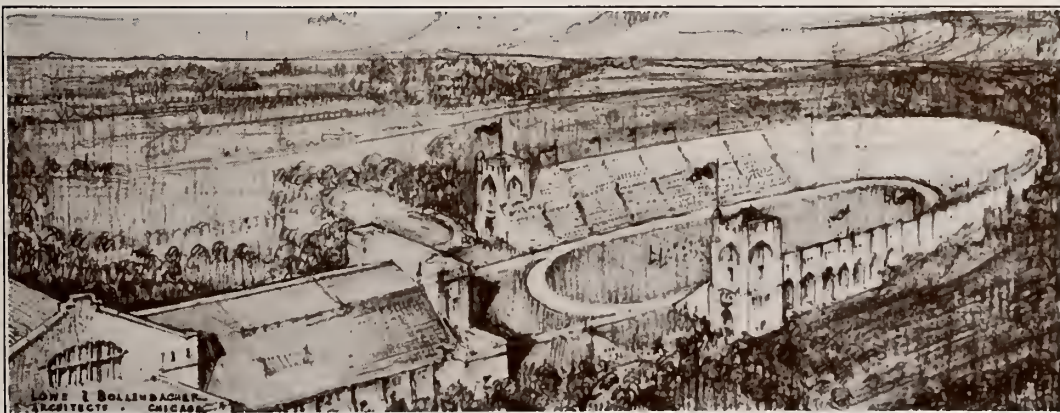

PROPOSED DORMITORY FOR GIRLS

Following the appointment of W. A. Alexander as executive secretary of the Memorial Fund in October, 1921, active preparations for the campus campaign were begun. Committee appointments were announced, plans for the actual solicitation were formulated, and an intensive educational and publicity campaign carried on on the campus.

Direction of the work among men students was in the hands of Noble C. Butler, '22, and his assistant, George H. Neff, '22, while the women's campaign was directed by Elisabeth Johnston, '23, and Blanche Davidson, '22. All-campus committees, composed of approximately 200 men and women, were named to carry the project to the undergraduates.

Many subscriptions, totaling about $42,000, were received from campus organizations prior to the opening of the solicitation campaign. With this nucleus the drive for the campus goal of $400,000 was launched on the afternoon of March 7. Governor Warren T. McCray officially opened the program with an address at the greatest student mass meeting in the history of the school. Speeches were made by undergraduate leaders and by representative alumni. One hour after the meeting was adjourned, teams composed of the 200 committee members took the field to solicit pledges, and in thirty hours had received subscriptions amounting to $413,958.

Athletics

The Arbutus

"JUMBO" STIEHM

The giant Wisconsin athlete, who has been most instrumental in bringing athletics at Indiana University to a par with those of the most renowned schools of the nation. The name of Stiehm is linked with that of sportsmanship and athletic excellence.

More Steam for Indiana University Athletics

INDIANA UNIVERSITY, within the next five years, will be a much larger institution than it is at the present. Possibly its student population will have nearly doubled. Indiana will have at least four new and adequate buildings. It will be a modern university. The standard of athletics must keep pace with the growth of the institution. The Million Dollar Memorial Drive has laid the foundations for a Greater Indiana. Active support of coach and teams now will lay the foundations for athletic expansion.

CAPTAIN-ELECT HANNY

FRANK HANNY stands head and shoulders above every football man at Indiana, who will be on the team next year, in experience and sheer all-round ability. There was no question as to who would be elected to captain the 1922 varsity. "Duke" Hanny is one of the finest and cleanest athletes who ever played at Indiana. He worked wonders last season under a tremendous handicap. He suffered a fractured shoulder in the Harvard game and played through all the remaining games with it in a cast. Hanny guards right end. There are no gains around that end. At least there haven't been for two years. Hanny can hit the line like Kyle, and often carries the ball. He can receive forward passes. He weighs 200 pounds and is as swift as a dash man. He is a keen tactician and never gets excited or angry in a game. He will make an ideal captain.

THE SCHEDULE FOR 1922

October	7—DePauw at Bloomington.
October	14—Wisconsin at Madison.
October	21—Minnesota at Indianapolis.
October	23—Michigan Agricultural College at Bloomington.
November	4—Notre Dame at South Bend.
November	11—West Virginia at Bloomington (Homecoming).
November	25—Purdue at Lafayette.

CAPTAIN JOHN KYLE

Football

THE 1921 VARSITY SQUAD

 Third Row—Colpitts (trainer), Null (assistant coach), Ross, Wilkens, Goodman, Andrews, Jeffries, Clay, Maynard, Hanna.

The Varsity Squad

THE schedule for next fall is a mountainous one—a schedule of games which would test the most perfect gridiron combination in the country. Stiehm will have a good nucleus about which to build his team. He will have such men as Wilkens, Eberhart, France, Cox, Thomas, Maynard, Bean, Harris, Burke, Raymond, Buck, Landis, McCool, Bahr, Clay and Goodman, from last season's varsity. In addition to these there will be stars from the 1921 yearling squad—men who will push the varsity veterans to the limit for regular berths.

The Men Who Made the Team

WILLIAM G. McCAW

For three years "Bud" McCaw was awarded a place on All-Conference elevens as guard. For three years he has been a mighty defensive bastion in the Crimson line. This last season marked the passing of one of the most powerful and resourceful linemen who ever fought on Jordan field.

ELMER S. WILKENS

Fort Wayne sent him to Indiana. He is a sophomore and a quarterback. He officiated at the pivot position as a regular and earned his spurs to the satisfaction of the host of fandom which follows Crimson football. He will loom on the gridiron horizon of the West next season.

ELDER J. EBERHART

Tall, rangy and swift as an antelope is this sophomore end. He was sent in game after game to relieve Bell or Donovan, and his offensive and defensive work on the left wing was such as to stamp him as extraordinary material for two more full seasons.

CLOYD FRANCE

France is a tackle. He is one of the fastest chargers who was ever developed by Stiehm. His work in the games last season was admirable. He uses his head. He entered the season with a year of varsity experience. This experience, combined with his natural prowess, was an invaluable part of the Indiana team. He will have another year.

FRANK COX

Cox played his second year in the line. His weight and defensive ability stood the Crimson in good stead in the gruelling struggles of the year at home and on foreign fields. He is a guard par excellence. Foemen of Indiana will not be gratified to learn that this big blonde athlete has another year.

JOHN A. BURNETT

The smallest man on the team, but one of the most feared. "Red" alternated at quarterback with Wilkens. He is a crafty field general. His line punches and end runs made many yards for the team during the season. He is a senior. Burnett fought his way to a regular position after three years of effort.

EUGENE THOMAS

Thomas went to a regular berth at halfback after having substituted for Russell Williams the previous season. He is a stocky-built ground gainer with a pair of shoulders on him like a Hercules. He is another first rank player whom Stiehm will have another season.

LOWELL BOGGS

Boggs returned to Indiana to play his last year of football in the middle of the season. He was sent in at tackle to relieve Leonard in several games. Boggs' experience made him a valuable addition to the team at a time when injuries were threatening to prove a serious handicap to the team.

KERMIT MAYNARD

Here is a man who is powerful and versatile. He is big enough to be in the line, but his charging and passing ability caused Stiehm to use him in the backfield, usually at left half. Maynard also will be seen in next year's lineup. Next to Kyle, he was probably the best line plunger of the year.

WILLIAM E. BEAN

Bean was another player who returned to wear the Crimson after having been out of the University for three years. He played in the backfield and won the coveted "I." With two years of varsity experience behind him he should go into a regular position next fall.

EDDIE HARRIS

Big, good-natured Ed is a fullback. He was somewhat at a disadvantage last fall because he played the same position as did the peerless Kyle. Now Kyle didn't get hurt, so Harris did not have many chances to show what he really possesses. Next year he will have a real opportunity.

HARRY DONOVAN

The man who has caught long forward passes on Indiana teams for three years. He is a fighting Irishman. He played left end "Pat" Donovan is tall and fast, and demonstrated time after time that he was without an equal on the team in pulling down seemingly impossible passes.

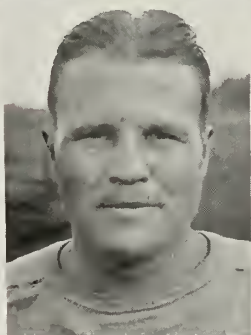

JOHN KYLE

The king and captain of them all. One of the greatest football players who ever played at Indiana, or anywhere else. He was the best line plunger of the season in the Middle West, and that is saying something. The men and women of Indiana regard the passing of Johnny Kyle with regret. He is a fullback and a man.

BEN ROSS

Ross had played fullback for two years. With the loss of such giants as Pierce and Lorhei, the coach was forced to look about for a man to fill a gaping hole at center. Ross was the man picked for the job, and he held it down full well.

JOHN LEONARD

For three years "Big Jawn" has struck fear to Indiana opponents from his post at right tackle. He was an integral part of the "million-dollar" right wing of the team. His graduation will mean a big loss to the team.

VERN BELL

Bell played at left end along with Donovan. He has been a steady and consistent fighter on Indiana teams for three full seasons. His work, seldom spectacular, was always dependable. Bell delivered the goods when he was called on. His ability to receive passes stamped him as a player of real merit.

DANIEL B. BURKE

Burke is a sophomore from New Albany. He played a regular position at left half. Burke was possibly the best end skirter on the squad last fall. He has two years of varsity playing ahead of him. He should develop into a star of the first rank next year.

ROBERT RAYMOND

Another of Stiehm's admirable set of backfield men. "Bob" was the best broken field runner on the team, and when he got loose he went for long gains. He is shifty and has a bewildering change of pace. Raymond has another year.

THEDIS M. BUCK

Buck played in several games at quarterback. He was easily the fastest man on the football squad. This speed made him a valuable man in the backfield. He excelled as an end runner and in off-tackle smashes.

GERALD W. LANDIS

Landis was another member of the quartet of fighting quarterbacks on the Crimson team in 1921. He hails from the premier football town of the state—Linton. He had not been in the University for three years, but came back to don mole-skins on Jordan Field. He will come again next year.

BERTUS L. McCOOL

McCool came through with the goods as a guard. He is a physical giant and a man who turned out to be a real football player after starting with very little experience last fall. He was a power on defense and was quick in getting his man on the offensive.

WILFRID BAHR

Bahr gave all promise of developing into an end who will make himself known in the Conference next year. Last season was his first on the varsity. He was one of the best ground gainers on the team, and the experience of a year on the grid-iron should serve to make him a seasoned regular in the next two years.

EMMONS W. CLAY

Is another sophomore who went through his first varsity football test this last season. He is big and powerful, and it is such men as he who will step into the apertures in the line left by the graduation of Leonard and other veterans.

JAMES E. GOODMAN

Is another Linton football product. He performed last fall in the capacity of reserve to Ross at center. He has two more years at Indiana, and will be one of the seasoned men about which Stiehm will weld his 1922 machine.

HARVARD 18 INDIANA 0

The 1921 Season

WITH the exception of a 3-0 victory over Purdue, which allowed Indiana to tie Minnesota for the fifth place in the Big Ten Conference rating and to finish above Illinois, Purdue and Northwestern, the Crimson football season was one filled with reverses, bad weather and injuries.

When Coach E. O. Stiehm took charge of the team on September 15, he faced the problem of filling the vacancies left by the graduation of such men as Captain Risley, Mumby, Pierce, Mathys and Minton. He had just ten days in which to whip his team into shape to meet Franklin in the opening game at Bloomington, September 24, and he had less than three weeks' time to prepare his eleven to meet Harvard at Harvard, October 8.

The Crimson eleven won its opening game from Franklin and Kalamazoo, and then journeyed to Harvard, where the Crimson of the East triumphed over the Crimson of the West on a muddy field. Two weeks later Indiana lost its first Conference contest to Minnesota, and the following week was downed by Notre Dame in a game played on a muddy field at Washington Park, Indianapolis. Injuries and sickness combined with Iowa's superior football to down Indiana on a partially frozen field at Iowa City, and then—Purdue was defeated.

INDIANA 47 - FRANKLIN 0

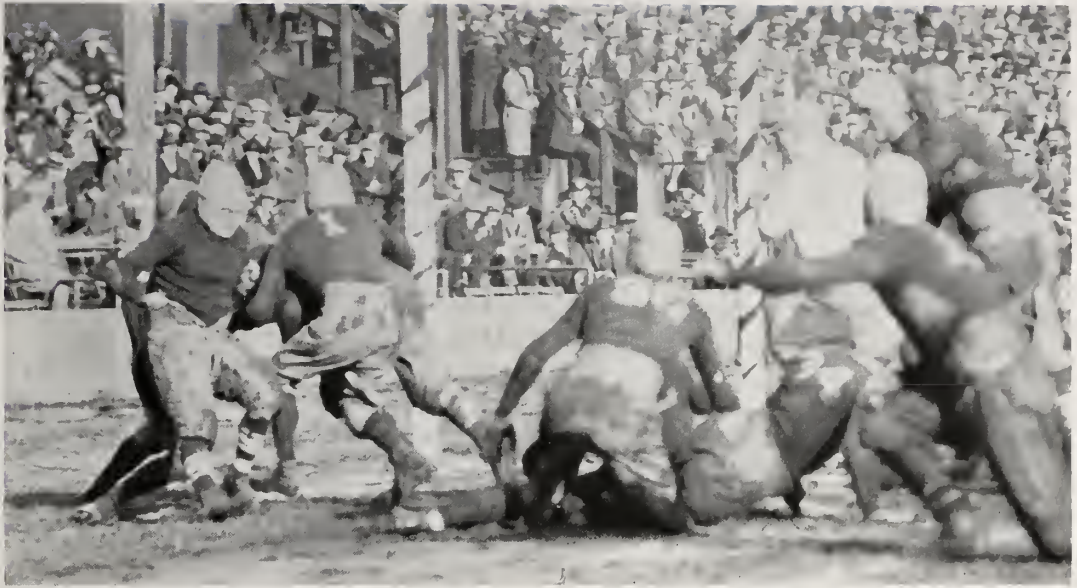

Indiana opened its schedule at Bloomington, Saturday, September 24, defeating Franklin College, 47-0.

Coach Stiehm's men used but two forward pass plays in the game, depending entirely on the line-plunging ability of Captain Kyle and Hanny and the off-tackle plays with Raymond, Hanny and Burke carrying the ball, to gain ground.

INDIANA 29 - KALAMAZOO 0

NOTRE DAME 23—INDIANA 7

The Indiana team lined up for the game, with Hanny and Donovan at ends, Leonard and France at tackles, Cox and McCaw at guards, Ross at center, Wilkens at quarterback, Raymond and Bean at halfbacks, and Captain Kyle at fullback. Frequent substitutions were made.

Kalamazoo College fell before Indiana at Bloomington, 29-0, on October 1. Kyle, Hanny, Harris and Bahr scored touchdowns for Indiana, while Leonard kicked three goals from placement. Two points were added to the Crimson score by a safety made by Kalamazoo.

Indiana again used straight football in making its gains. Not a single forward pass play was tried. Hanny and Kyle again penetrated the Kazoo line at will, the former going off tackle for a 39-yard run for a touchdown, while Kyle made a 37-yard gain through center in two of the game's outstanding plays.

MINNESOTA 6—INDIANA 0

On Tuesday, October 4, Coach Stiehm and twenty-five members of the varsity squad left Bloomington bound for Boston, where Indiana was to meet Harvard the following Saturday. The squad had had just a little more than two weeks' work up to this time. The team arrived in Boston Thursday morning, and practice sessions Thursday and Friday afternoons were held in the Harvard Soldiers' Stadium, Cambridge, to allow the team to accustom itself to the field. Thomas, who had but recently returned to the squad from the hospital, was forced to bed immediately upon his arrival in Boston and was unable to play in the game.

Saturday came, and Indiana lost to the Harvard team, 19-0, in a game, half of which was played in a downpour of rain and sleet. Buell scored Harvard's first points late in the first quarter with a drop kick from the 35-yard line. Early in the second period Kyle had a punt partially blocked within the shadows of his own goal, and Gehrke recovered the ball and crossed the line for a touchdown. Pfaffermann scored a place kick from the 18-yard line, and Harvard led at the half, 13-0.

A driving rain began to fall between halves, and neither team was able to handle the ball effectively. In the fourth period the Hoosiers blocked a Harvard punt on Harvard's own 28-yard line. Fitts, Harvard halfback, intercepted an Indiana pass a few minutes later, and raced 70 yards for the final score of the game.

Hanny broke a small bone in his shoulder early in the game. This injury kept him from participating regularly in the remaining contests.

Two weeks after the Harvard game, Indiana journeyed to Minneapolis and lost its first Conference game in a heart-breaking contest to Minnesota, 6-0.

Three times in the last quarter of play, Indiana carried the ball by passes and plunges to within fifteen yards of the goal line, only to lose it on downs. Once the Crimson held the ball within the four-yard line.

IOWA 41—INDIANA 0

More than 12,000 people braved the rain and witnessed Indiana go down in defeat before Notre Dame in Washington Park, October 29, in a battle fought through mud and water.

During the first quarter neither team was able to make downs. Notre Dame held a slight advantage in the punting duel. Near the opening of the second period, the regular Notre Dame backfield, which had been sent into the game, went downfield from its own 38-yard line for the first score of the game. Shaw kicked goal. Near the end of the quarter Wynn's fumble on his own 10-yard line was recovered by Captain Kyle for Indiana. Kyle made two tries at the Irish forward wall, and on the second crossed the goal line for a touchdown. Leonard kicked goal and made the score 7-7, where it stood at the end of the first half.

Notre Dame opened up with a short pass attack at the resumption of play, and near the middle of the third period carried the ball across the line for a second touchdown. A third marker came by use of the same plays shortly after the opening of the fourth quarter.

Notre Dame made wholesale substitutions, while Indiana lacked the manpower to combat the drive of this fresh material. A fourth touchdown was scored by Notre Dame soon after. Shaw kicked goal in each case.

John Kyle stood out head and shoulders above any man on the field, both in his defensive and offensive work. Captain Kyle and the Indiana team were synonymous on that day.

Iowa, Conference champions and conquerors of Notre Dame, with A. Devine and Locke gaining the ground, defeated Indiana, 41-0, at Iowa City, November 12. The game was played on a frozen field.

INDIANA 3—PURDUE 0

Owing to injuries suffered by his first string men and the illness of Burke and Wilkens, Coach Stiehm was forced to start a second string lineup against the Hawkeyes. A. Devine scored the first touchdown soon after the opening of the game. Before the first quarter ended, the open-field work of A. Devine, together with his passing to G. Devine and Belding, and Locke's line plunging, ran the score to 20. Indiana's regulars took the field at the opening of the second quarter and held Iowa to a lone touchdown.

Indiana faced Purdue at Bloomington, November 19, in the Homecoming game, with all odds against the Crimson. Purdue, by comparative scores, had the superior team, but after fighting for three and one-half periods through rain and mud, Indiana's chance came, and the Boilermakers were defeated, 3-0.

The game showed only too well that the ability of one man to take advantage of opportunity when presented, rather than the greater number of first downs made, often wins football games. The Boilermakers made thirteen first downs against Indiana, while the Crimson scored but two; but Indiana had Captain John Kyle, and Purdue had the misfortune to make two costly bobbles. Johnny Kyle recovered both of these fumbles, and with the aid of a long punt and a drop kick converted them into a three-point victory for the Crimson.

For two quarters the teams struggled through the mud, neither able to approach nearer than twenty yards to the other's goal. Purdue gained ground more consistently, but Kyle's punting kept his goal out of danger. In the third period Miller failed in three attempts to score from placement for Purdue, trying kicks from the 48, 37 and 36-yard lines. Kyle's punting kept the ball near midfield.

Then, near the end of the third period the Boilermakers started downfield for what appeared would be a certain score. They brought the ball to Indiana's 22-yard line. Fields passed to Captain Carman, who completed the pass on Indiana's 15-yard line, only to fumble it a minute later. Kyle recovered and punted to Purdue's 18-yard line. An exchange of punts followed, and then Meeker fumbled on his own 17-yard line, and Kyle again recovered for Indiana. Two plays gained seven yards, and Kyle dropped back to kick from the 20-yard line. He received a poor pass, and for an instant it looked as though his kick was going to be blocked. He dropped the ball quickly and booted it high and squarely over the goal for the only score of the game. It was his first attempt at drop-kicking.

Yearling Football

THE 1921 freshman football team was perhaps the strongest seen at Indiana since the record crop of 1916, when Leonard, McCaw, et al., made their debut. The freshman lineup included a wealth of speedy and versatile back-field men, and an unusual preponderance of avoirdupois in the line.

The freshmen, on several occasions, more than held their own with the pride of the varsity. Next season there will come back to Indiana a group of men, well versed in the arts of the gridiron and possessing ability which will stand them in good stead when they don Crimson uniforms.

The freshmen last fall were coached by Coach Lester Null and Assistant Coach Roscoe Minton.

The Pow-Wow

THE Pow-Wow banquet marks the peak of athletic spirit and enthusiasm at Indiana during the year. It is the "pep" fest for the Homecoming game. This year it was held on the eve of the Purdue battle.

The Pow-Wow of 1921 was a monster reunion, one of the big features of Dad's and Grad's Day. Hundreds of alumni returned from many states to attend the banquet and to renew their enthusiasm and breathe again the spirit of Crimson fight. Rousing speeches were made by Coach Stiehm, President Bryan, Captain Kyle and prominent alumni. The members of the team and Coach Stiehm were presented with watches and other gifts from the students.

Junior "I" Men's Association

ALL wearers of the Crimson sweater bearing the "I," who are attending school, are members of the Junior "I" Men's Association. The Junior Association works in close co-operation with the main "I" Men's Association, which is composed of alumni, to promote the best possible spirit in athletics and a close relationship between the students and the Athletic Department.

The organization also bends its efforts toward interesting young athletes in coming to Indiana, and to the immediate promotion and organization of all athletic contests at the University. The members wear the official "I" button, which is also the insignia of the Senior "I" Men's Association.

THE SEASON

THE 1921-1922 basketball season was a disastrous one for Indiana. Although an inspection of the season's results shows the Crimson won ten of her twenty games; only three Conference games were brought home by the Levismen out of the ten scheduled.

Indiana made 447 points during the season against 434 made by her opponents.

Coach George W. Levis started the season with almost an entirely new squad. Two men remained—Marxson and Thomas. Marxson was unable to get into condition to play, leaving Thomas the only last year's regular who competed this year.

Greeted by fifteen men last October, Coach Levis was forced to build up a sophomore combination to face the Conference schedule, many of the games with teams that had all their last year's men back. After six weeks' practice the Crimson began the season here against Manchester College, defeating the upstate school 25-15. Seven pre-season games followed, of which Indiana won five, losing to the Indiana Dental College and the Habichs of Indianapolis.

The actual Conference grind started against Northwestern here on January 14, the Levismen defeating the Purple, 21-13, in a hard-fought game. The next game, with Ohio State, was lost by a 23-17 score, although the Buckeyes were outplayed in all stages of the game.

Indiana's third Conference tilt was lost to Minnesota, here, in a game that upset the Crimson rooters' nerves for the following week, and which was such a bitter pill for the Levismen to swallow that on February 4 they journeyed to Minneapolis and handed the Gophers the 23-19 lacing.

The defeat to Purdue, 24-19, was not unexpected, since Purdue had a wealth of experienced material and was going strong on her way to the top of the Big Ten ladder. On the following Monday, Indiana won the closest game of the season from Michigan, defeating the Wolverines 15-14.

The Michigan game ended the Crimson victories for the year, for following it in rapid succession Northwestern, Michigan, Purdue and Ohio dropped the Levismen.

In the non-Conference games, with DePauw and Marquette College, Indiana emerged victorious in both cases. The defeat of DePauw, 36-31, was probably the climax of the season, for in that game Indiana exhibited an unbeatable brand of basketball that evened up scores for the previous DePauw defeat.

The showing made by the Crimson sophomore team was remarkable, considering the handicap of inexperience. At the outset of the season dopesters did not accord the Levismen a chance.

 Bottom Row—Spangler, Healey, Moomaw, Seidensticker, Knoy, Niness.

Freshman Basketball

THE freshman basketball team this year was one of the strongest ever seen at Indiana. A wealth of material was uncovered. Since only one regular, Hauss, will be lost to the varsity, the prospects for next season are unusually bright.

EUGENE THOMAS

Thomas was the captain and floor guard of the 1921-1922 Crimson varsity basketball squad. Thomas is a prime defensive man and is a constant threat to opponents when he gets a basket chance from long range. Thomas is a junior.

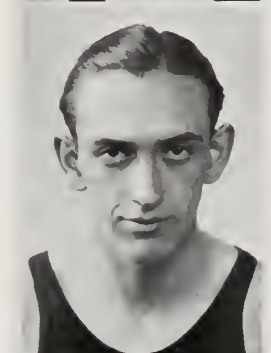

RUSSELL HAUSS

"Buck" Hauss was perhaps the most consistent player on the team. Although a small man for the position of back guard on a Conference team, he more than held his own during the season. His fight, his ability to diagnose plays and his speed made him the chief cog in the Indiana defense.

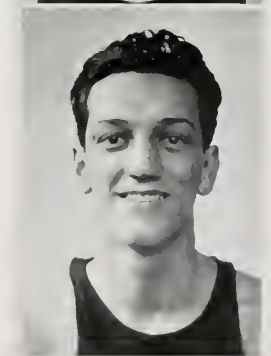

GEORGE COFFEY

Coffey did not come into his own until the middle of the season, when he sprang into prominence as the most accurate goal getter on the team. He assumed a regular place at center. Coffey has two more years ahead of him.

WILFRID BAHR

Flashy forward and captain-elect. Bahr was handicapped by sickness much of the season, but displayed class when he was given opportunity to perform against Conference opponents. Bahr is a sophomore and bids fair to star in the next two seasons.

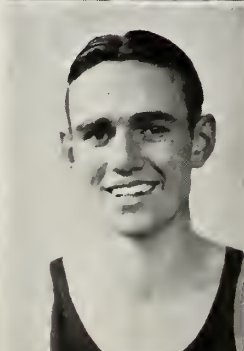

HAROLD SANFORD

"Sox" hails from Lebanon, the home of basketball players. He is a sophomore and a tall, rangy forward. He is a foul pitcher and a good floor man. Sanford plays a heady game, and with a year of collegiate experience, should make a heavy mark in the play next season.

JOE SLOATE

Sloate did not get into action until the second semester, but his speed and goal-getting ability earned him a regular post at forward. His prowess was not to be denied. Sloate also is only a sophomore and will be another veteran for Levis to begin the 1922-1923 season with.

LAWRENCE MICHENER

Michener played a consistent game at guard during the season. He was one of Levis' most dependable reserves. He, too, is a sophomore and should make lively competition for a regular berth on the quintet next winter.

ELDER J. EBERHART

Another sophomore and a back guard. Eberhart is a giant in stature and weight. He developed rapidly during the season under the tutelage of Levis and will be a favored candidate to fill the shoes of Hauss next year.

SAMUEL HOUSTON

"Sam" Houston is a fighter. He is a fast and lank forward who always seems to manage to get in the clear for an open shot. He is the kind of man who works into a good scoring combination. And he is a sophomore.

LAWRENCE BUSBY

"Buzz" played his last year at center. His size and experience made him an invaluable asset to the team during the long grind of the season. Busby, in addition to jumping and performing at the pivot position, was called back on the defense at times.

STANLEY CROWE

Crowe is a noted long-range artist. His long shots were the determining factors in winning at least two Big Ten games for the Crimson. And Crowe is another sophomore. He is a floor guard and alternated with Thomas during the season.

RELLE E. ALDRIDGE

One of the best floor workers on the squad. Aldridge was an ideal defensive forward. His forte is in recovering the ball and breaking up opposing passwork. He is fast and a fighter. He will be back next year.

Intramural Basketball

THE balanced Sigma Nu basketball team repeated in the University championship series this year and for the second consecutive time carried away the titular honors.

The title-holders defeated the Outcasts, an independent organization, which had won the championship of the non-Greek league, in the final game for the championship. It was a hard-won game.

The Sigma Nu fraternity team won the Panhellenic title, with the Phi Psis a close second in the percentage column. Then followed the Betas and the Acacians.

Intramural basketball this year, conducted under the auspices of the Intramural Athletic Association, was most successful and occasioned a wide interest.

The Team in Japan

AT THE 1922 Arbutus goes to press, the Indiana University baseball team is opening its twelve-game series with the University of Waseda nine in Tokio, Japan. A party of seventeen, including thirteen players, left Bloomington March 28 for Seattle, Wash., where it sailed for Japan April 1, arriving there April 13. The series was started a week after the team landed.

ASSISTANT COACH MINTON

WASEDA AT BAT

The Crimson nine took two of the three practice games from the DePauw team here Saturday, March 25. The games went five innings each, Indiana winning 5 to 1 and 2 to 1 and losing one 1 to 4. When the final contract for the trip to the orient was signed in February, practically the entire Crimson schedule was cancelled. The team will return to Bloomington about May 28 for a short five-game schedule as follows:

- June 3—DePauw at Bloomington.
- June 5—DePauw at Greencastle.
- June 7—Purdue at Bloomington.
- June 12—Purdue at Lafayette.
- June 13—Purdue at Lafayette.

The squad which made the Japan trip is as follows: Pitchers, Captain James Walker, Ward Gilbert and Harry Gause; catchers, Robert Kidd and Emmons Clay; infielders, Rankin Denny, Joe Sloate, Dorsey Kight and Leland Macer; outfielders, Harold Lynch, Leonard Ruckelshaus and Walter Wichterman. The other members of the Indiana party are Coach and Mrs. George Levis, Assistant Coach Roscoe Minton and Dean and Mrs. C. E. Edmondson.

The Record of 1921

The 1921 Indiana baseball team finished its season with a record of only ten victories in twenty-four games played. The nine won five of its eleven Big Ten Conference games, three of its seven regularly scheduled games with non-Conference schools and two of the six games played on the southern training trip.

George Levis, former Wisconsin star and Indiana basketball coach, had charge of the team. Practically all of the games lost were dropped by close margins. Part of the losses were due to superior playing. Indiana did not have an abundance of good material. In several games the Crimson was outlucked.

RAYMOND McCARTY

McCarty is a big pitcher with a hop on his fast one.

LLOYD L. SPITLER

JOE SLOATE

Regular second baseman. He has all kinds of speed and a good peg.

MARK HANNA

Hanna is another of the strong staff of pitchers who tried out for the team in the early spring.

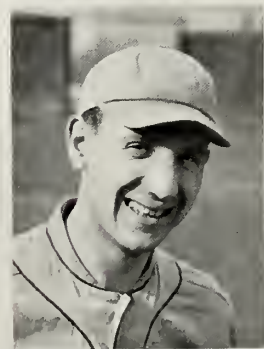

DORSEY KIGHT

The sophomore shortstop. Kight, even though he had had no varsity experince, was not to be denied a regular position.

KERMIT MAYNARD

Third baseman and heavy hitter. He has another year.

JAMES HALL

Hall displayed all kinds of brilliance around second and short, but was declared ineligible for the varsity.

HARRY GAUSE

One of the three regular pitchers taken to Japan, and a sophomore. He possesses speed and control and curves.

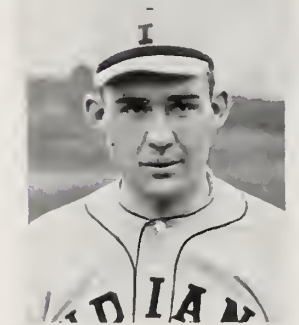

JAMES B. WALKER

The pitching ace and captain of the nine. He is heady and consistent in the box.

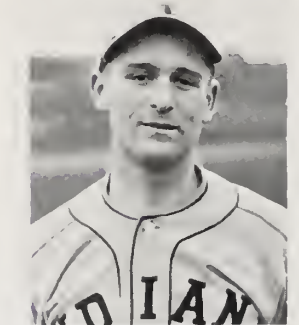

EMMONS W. CLAY

A catcher, an outfielder and a heavy stick man. Clay is a valuable sophomore addition to the team that invaded Japan.

WALTER V. WICHTERMAN

Another sophomore and keeper of center garden. He knows baseball.

HAROLD D. LYNCH

Lynch displayed enough pep and hitting ability to eliminate all competition for the left garden berth.

LELAND E. MACER

Third sacker and a sophomore. He beat out all opposition for his position in the tryouts.

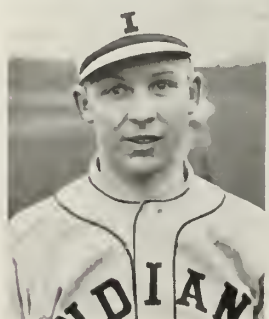

LEONARD RUCKLESHAUS

Dependable right fielder of the globe trotters. His batting average is high.

ROBERT KIDD

Earned his place as one of the catchers by determined effort for two years.

RANKIN DENNY

A first baseman from Plainville, Ind. He is a junior. His experience with the team in Japan will mean a finished key-stone man next spring.

HAROLD KAISER

Kaiser is a sophomore catcher who did not make the first string, but who worked his way to Waseda with the team.

THEDIS BUCK

A catcher with a batting eye and base-running ability.

WARD GILBERT

Pitcher and also outfielder. A good batsman. An experienced ball player.

EDWIN T. JEFFRIES

Another of the squad of excellent twirlers from whom Coach Levis had to choose his pitching staff.

1921 Track Season

THE track season of 1921 was not so successful as might have been hoped, but Coach John Millen was hampered by lack of material and by injuries to his best men. The scores of the season were as follows:

March 2—A. A. U. Meet at Indianapolis. Indiana won first.
 March 11—Cincinnati University 49, Indiana 36, at Cincinnati.
 April 16—Earlham 79½, Indiana 42½, at Richmond.
 April 20—DePauw at Bloomington, tie.
 May 7—Purdue 80½, Indiana 45½, at Lafayette.
 May 14—Ohio State 99, Indiana 27, at Columbus.
 May 21—State Meet, at Notre Dame. Indiana finished seventh

PROSPECTS FOR 1922

The outlook for Crimson in track and field for this season is brighter than that of last spring. There is a promising field of candidates, most of whom have had a year's experience.

CROSS COUNTRY SQUAD

Top Row—Ritterskamp, Pfeiffer, Randall, Bruck, Chambers, Null (coach).
Bottom Row—Shirley, Griffin, Chaney, Purvis.

Cross Country

THE Crimson cross country team of 1922 was one of the most finished in the history of the sport at Indiana. The team defeated Northwestern's harriers decisively in a dual meet held at Bloomington and took second place in the state meet held at Lafayette.

1922 VARSITY CROSS COUNTRY TEAM

Shirley (captain), Ritterskamp, Griffin, Chaney, Pfeiffer, Bruck, Null (coach).

FRANK HANNY

Most powerful man on the track team and most perfect athlete in the University. Hurler of the javelin, the shot and the discus.

HARDY SHIRLEY

Champion long distance runner of the University. Captain of the cross country team and miler and two-miler on the varsity track team.

RELLE ALDRIDGE

High jumper. A consistent performer last year. He started this season in good form and expects to win points.

GERALD L. BARNETT

Fast dash and middle distance man. This is his second year on the varsity track team.

THEDIS BUCK

Runner of the century and the 220-yard dashes. An all-around athlete.

EUGENE THOMAS

Thomas is a broad jumper and a point winner. This is his second year on the varsity.

ERWIN L. BOHN

Bohn won his letter in the pole vault last spring, and bids fair to repeat in the meets of 1922.

JOHN KYLE

Kyle puts the shot and hurls the discus along with Hanny. He possesses the strength and the form.

EARL CHANEY

Best middle distance man on the team. An easy, graceful runner.

1922 BOXING TEAM

Boxing at Indiana

THE addition of boxing as a part of the athletic curriculum of the University has proved a most popular move. This year a squad of nearly fifty men has received boxing instruction under Coach Lester Null.

A University boxing tournament was held in the gymnasium on the evening of April 5. There were a large number of entries in the different weights, and a number of the bouts were high class exhibitions.

The champions in the respective weights were as follows: One hundred twenty-five-pound, Leland Thomas and Norbert Pfeiffer (draw); 135-pound, Alexander Zivich; 145-pound, Francis Robertson; 160-pound, Earl Jardine; 175-pound, Eddie Harris; heavyweight, Frank Hanny.

Class numerals were awarded to the winners in each class.

The Record of the Matmen

January 21—At Ames; Indiana 0, Iowa State College 52.

January 28—At East Lansing; Indiana 42, Michigan Agricultural College 6.

February 3 and 4—State A. A. U. here. Indiana won six championships out of eight divisions.

February 17—At Urbana; Indiana 18, Illinois 24.

February 25—At Morgantown; Indiana 15, West Virginia 14.

March 4—At State College; Indiana 14, Penn State 15.

March 6—At Columbus; Indiana 32, Ohio State 22.

March 11—Here; Indiana 38, Purdue 12.

Wrestling as an intercollegiate sport forged to the front in 1922 and had a run of popularity that was unparalleled in the history of the wrestling game at Indiana University.

Jack Reynolds, welterweight wrestling champion of the world, took up the reins as coach. He found a squad much depleted from graduation and loss through eligible men failing to return to school. After less than a month of training the Crimson matmen went down before the Iowa State grapplers in the first match of the season. Ames later won both the team and the majority of the individual championships of the Western Wrestling Conference and did not lose a single bout all year.

Coach Reynolds' men scored their first victory on January 28, when they defeated the Michigan Aggie grapplers to the tune of 42-6.

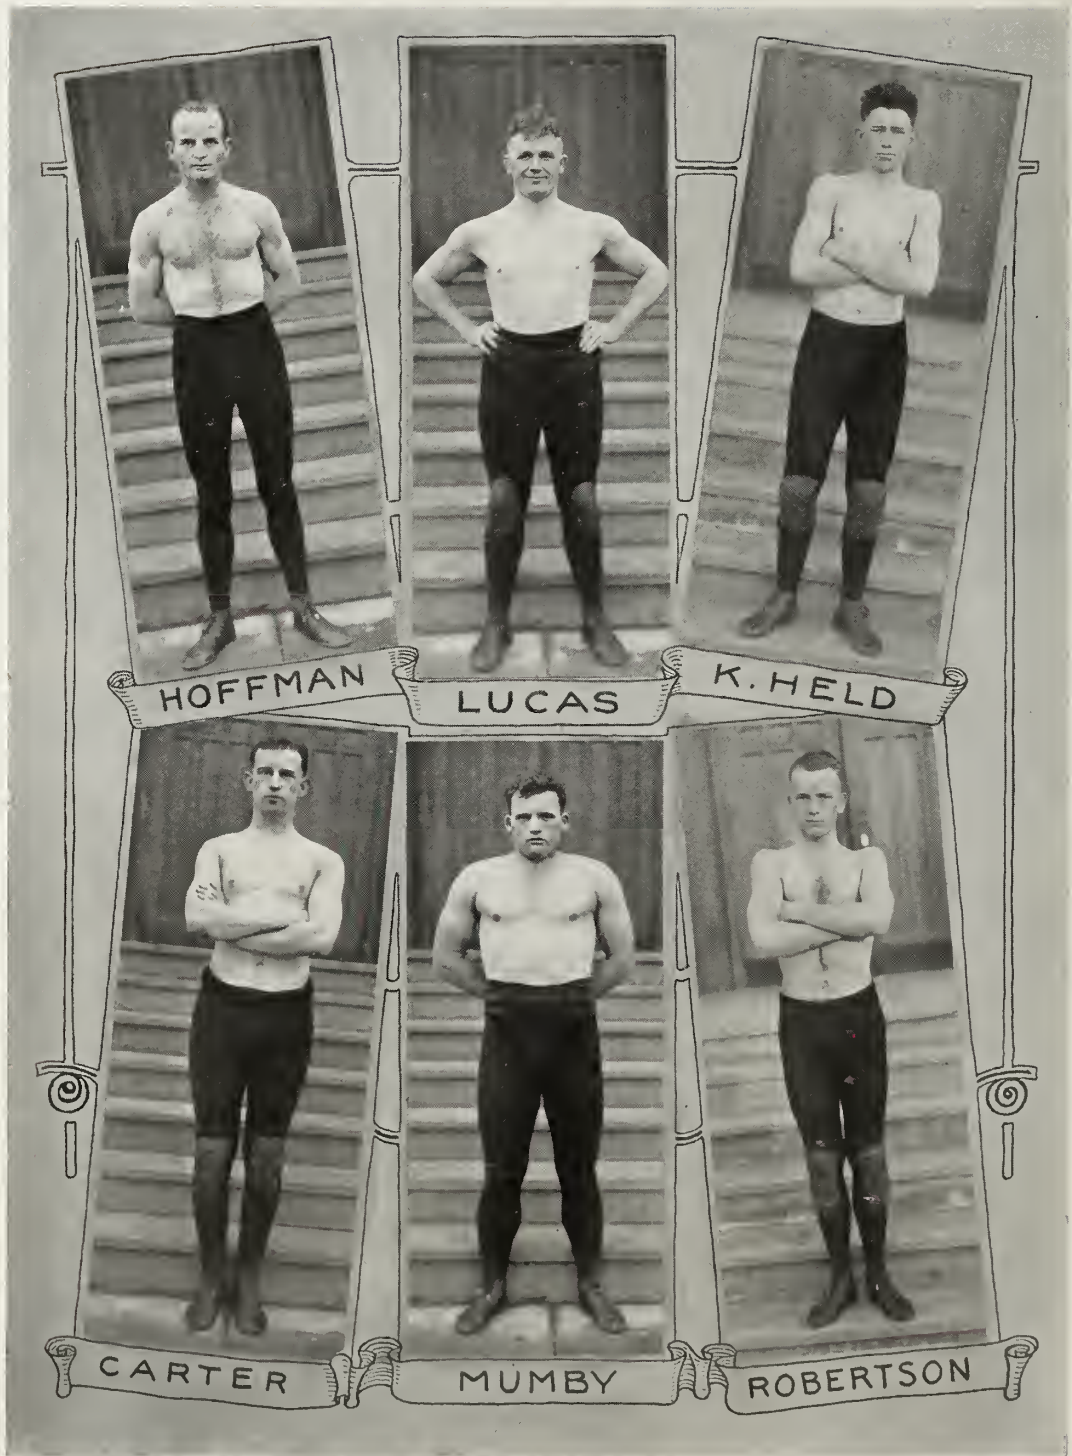

On February 3 and 4, Indiana won six out of a possible eight championships in the State A. A. U. meet held in the men's gymnasium.

The feature of the 1922 season was the eastern invasion of the wrestling team, on which it met West Virginia, Penn State and Ohio State, winning from the Mountaineers and Buckeyes, but losing to Penn State, last year's eastern champs.

The season was closed with a decisive victory over Purdue in the men's gymnasium.

VARSITY SWIMMING TEAM

Varsity Swimming Season

INDIANA went out into fast competition in the tank sport last winter and made a very creditable showing. The Crimson team was experienced and had an excellent instructor in Coach Lester Null. The team captain was Thompson.

The first meet for the swimmers was with the Hoosier Athletic Club, a crack Indianapolis combination, at Indianapolis on February 4. Here, in a well-contested meet, the Crimson men went down to defeat by the score of 48 to 21.

Purdue was met at Bloomington on February 18 and decisively defeated. The score was 40 to 28. On February 24, the Hoosier Athletic Club team came to Bloomington, where it met somewhat stiffer competition than at the Capital City. The count was 39 to 29, favoring the Athletic Club.

It was on March 25 that the State A. A. U. meet was held in the Indiana University pool. This was for the 440-yard free style championship. Indiana finished first and second. John Moore, winner for Indiana and star of the meet, not only broke the University record, but lowered the state record for the 440-yard free style event. Churchman, of Indiana, was a close second.

The men's swimming pool in the Indiana University gymnasium is one of the best in the Middle West. It is open to all men students every day. A physical examination is required of all swimmers. The water is changed daily, and a life guard watches at all times.

In Moore and Churchman the Indiana University tank team possessed two of the classiest paddlers ever seen in Conference competition. Several of the others showed promise and developed rapidly.

National Tennis Champions

INDIANA University is the holder of the National Intercollegiate tennis championship. This distinction was won for the University by "Fritz" Bastian, premier Hoosier net artist, at the National Intercollegiate championship meet held at the Merion Cricket Club, Haverford, Pa., June 27-July 2, 1921.

Bastian defeated Carl Fischer of Penn State, and champion of the East, in the finals in straight sets. There were sixty-one entries from twenty-eight schools.

Bastian, holder of many amateur titles, won for the Crimson the Conference championship in tennis in the Big Ten meet, May 26, 27, 28. He defeated Bunz, of Michigan, in the singles finals.

Bastian, with his teammates, Bruce Demarcus and Robert Kelso, easily defeated Purdue in a meet held at Bloomington May 21. Oklahoma had the honor of giving the Crimson a defeat at Bloomington on May 14. The score was 2 to 1.

Indiana easily captured the State Meet, held at Indianapolis. Indiana was the winner of both the singles and doubles.

BRUCE DEMARCUS

Auburn-haired flash and splendid teammate of the peerless Bastian. Demarcus showed spurts of brilliance in his intercollegiate matches, which at times placed his work on a par with that of the national champion.

ROBERT KELSO

Kelso was a consistent, hard-working player, who alternated with Demarcus as a teammate with "Fritz." Kelso showed up exceptionally well in the state meet, and contributed toward winning the doubles for Indiana.

Women's Athletic Association

HEALTH, enthusiasm, happy memories, the true spirit of fair play and sportsmanship, true friendships of the kind that last are open to 110 girls through membership in the Women's Athletic Association.

Tennis tourneys, hockey battles, soccer games in cold, snappy weather, heated baseball and basketball games and enthusiastic swimming meets now enable a girl to win the coveted emblems. Eight "I. U." sweaters were awarded by the association this year to girls who had won 1,000 points.

The local organization was hostess in April, 1921, for the National Athletic Conference of American College Women.

BASEBALL

HOCKEY

Hockey will be played this spring as a companion sport for baseball, under the direction of Helen Coblentz, coach, and Irene Duffey, sport head. Because of a transfer of tennis from spring to fall, and hockey being played in the spring, no practice has been held this year. Last year more than seventy were attracted by the sport, and one of the most interesting tournaments of the year resulted.

I. U. SWEATERS

Seven I. U. varsity sweaters were awarded by the W. A. A. this year. The winners of this final emblem were Elisabeth Johnston, '23; Margaret Moist, '22; Susie Kamp, '22; Hazel Fraser, '22; Irene Howard, '22; Harriett Rawles, '22, and Dorothy McFarlin, '22.

These sweaters are awarded by the association to the women of the University who have won 1000 points in team membership and gymnasium honors and who have at least an A posture. One hundred points are given for each team. The aspirant must at least make teams in four of the sports offered by the W. A. A.

First numerals are awarded when the girl has made 400 points, and second numerals are awarded when seven teams have been made.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

Basketball

BASKETBALL, the most popular sport of the Indiana coed, attracted more attention this year than ever before. More than two hundred from the freshman class alone tried out for team membership. Closely matched teams from all classes played a hotly contested tournament, which was won by the freshmen without a single defeat.

JULIA WEGHORST

Practice was held for six weeks before teams were picked by Miss Helen E. Coblentz, coach, and Julia Weghorst, '23, W. A. A. basketball head. Strict training rules were enforced during the entire season.

After the tournament the following varsity team was picked: Forwards, Julia Alexander, '23, and Julia Weghorst, '23; center, Katherine Rice, '25; guards, Katherine Betzner, '25, and Allison Bolitho, '25.

SOCCER TEAM

Top Row—Johnston, Broadbent, Weghorst, Hepburn.

Soccer

AFTER much hard practice at dribbling, tackling, kicking the ball and long distance shots, under the direction of Coach Coblentz and Julia Hepburn last fall, Dunn Meadow became the battle ground of four almost evenly matched soccer teams.

With enough material to furnish two varsity teams, the freshmen marched through the schedule without a single defeat. The juniors came second in the percentage of games won by beating the seniors 2-1, and the sophomores 6-5.

The wearers of the coveted ribbons of the varsity team showed many freshmen among the number. As announced by Coach Coblentz, the team included: Julia Alexander, Elisabeth Johnston, Mildred Douglas (captain), Katherine Rice, Catherine Betzner, Helen Kidwell, Sydney Colescott, Marion Gabriel, Mary Broadbent, Annette Partlow, and Marie Umbach.

JULIA HEPBURN

BASEBALL TEAM

Top Row—McLeaster, Weghorst, Fristoe, Hickman, Umbach.
Bottom Row—Howard, Hull, Peck, O'Meara.

Baseball

WITH the coming of spring last year a call was sent forth by Coach Coblentz for all the feminine would-be Ty Cobbs and Babe Ruths to appear on Durn Meadow, and more than seventy aspirants for teams responded.

The freshmen won the tournament after a close game with the juniors, which ended 16-15, and after defeating the sophomores 12-9. The work of Fristoe, catcher on the freshman team, and Umbach, sophomore, was especially creditable. The seniors had no team in the tournament, while the sophomores came through with one victory, defeating the juniors 8-3.

Those who showed enough form to be awarded the W. A. A. varsity ribbons were Agnes McLeaster, Peg O'Meara, Irene Howard, Fern Peck, Jewel Smiley, Margaretta Fristoe, Marie Umbach, Julia Weghorst, and Ruth Hickman.

The Outing Club

THE Outing Club has been one of the most active women's organizations on the campus during the past year. It provides means of recreation not included in the regular W. A. A. calendar of sports, and it enjoys a large and active membership.

Diversions, such as horseback riding, hiking, bicycle riding, croquet, golf and tennis, are included in the list sponsored by the Outing Club. It is a new organization and one which has grown with great rapidity since its organization in the spring of last year.

Each sport is organized under the direction of a sport head. Every girl in the University is eligible to become a member and take part in some or all of the wholesome and outdoor activities of the Outing Club. It is one of the most beneficial organizations on the campus.

Tennis

AFTER a summer's practice in lawfords and lobs, coed racquet wielders entered the tournament last fall with some of the most proficient players ever seen on the varsity courts.

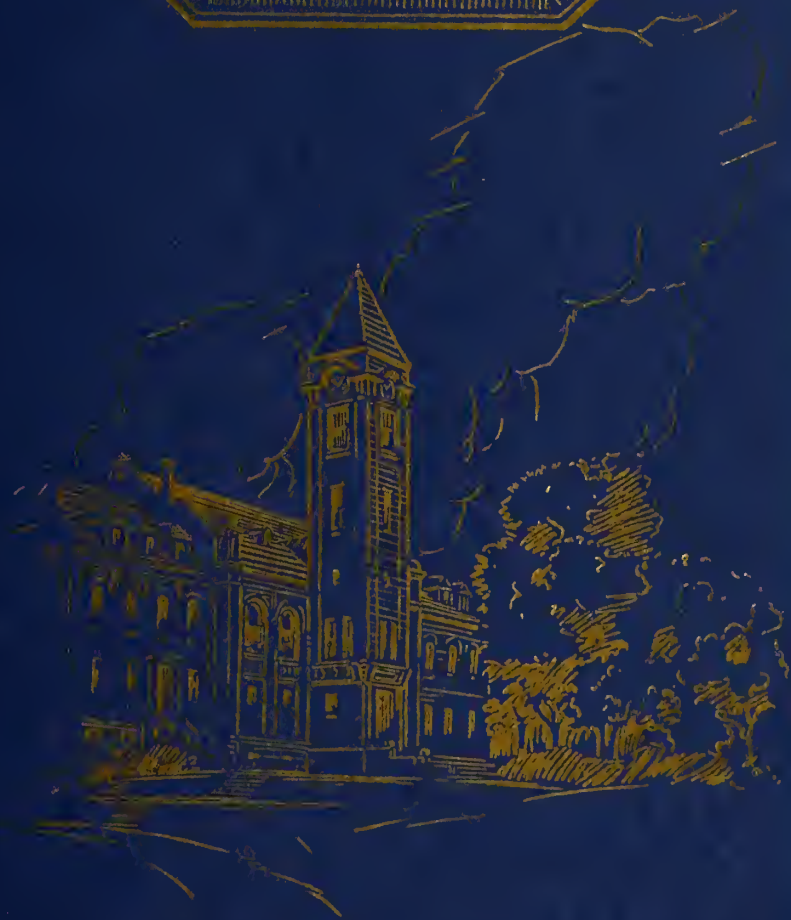

An interclass tournament attracted the most attention it had for years, and the courts were lined with spectators during the final games. Two members of the junior team were made members of the varsity team after this class had won every match in the tournament. These were Kathryn Mullinnix and Marian Morris. Lillyon Snyder was given the remaining berth on the varsity for her unusually good form on the freshman team.

The 1922 Commencement

THE graduation exercises for the class of 1922 will comprise one of the largest and best commencements in the hundred and two years of the University. Commencement week will be held the week of May 24 to June 7.

Hundreds of students are planning to stay over for it. Thousands of alumni and former students are coming back for it. A tented city is planned to take care of the Freshmen who will move out of organization houses to provide room for the thousands of visitors in Bloomington.

SENIOR OFFICERS

Vern S. Bell, president; Ralph C. Randolph, vice-president; Susie Kamp, secretary;
Margaret Moist, treasurer.

The commencement program is divided into three main groups:

A. The Ceremonial. This includes the regular commencement ceremonies in connection with the presentation of diplomas, the senior peace pipe, tree planting and other traditional ceremonies, the baccalaureate sermon, and the breaking of ground for the new memorial buildings. Three college presidents will be in attendance: Dr. E. H. Lindley, of Kansas University; Dr. Lotus D. Coffman, of the University of Minnesota, and President Bryan, all alumni of Indiana University. Dr. Swearingen, moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon.

B. The First Annual All-University Exposition. Characteristic exhibits of the work being done in all departments will be on the program, with a handbook setting forth the growth of each department during the past twenty years. This exhibit will probably be taken to the State Fair next fall.

C. Student Activities—Dramatics. The Jordan River Revue, The Showdown, The Union Revue, a Garrick Club play, a Greek play, aesthetic dancing, The International Revue, and other productions have a place on the dramatic program. Athletics—The baseball team, just home from a tour of Japan, will play Purdue and Depauw; other athletic attractions planned include an athletic carnival, the Faculty-Senior baseball game, an equestrian exhibition (special mounts to be furnished coeds from the new School of Riding and Horsemanship), intramural championship finals, horseshoe tournament, coed soccer game, swimming and diving exhibition, golf, tennis, etc. Miscellaneous—Plans are on foot to flood Dunn meadow and to build a band pavilion in the center of the artificial lake and place boats on the lake; the first annual circus day plans provide for real elephants, zebras and other wild animals to be imported from winter quarters of a well known circus; carnival night will see thousands of visitors and students arrayed in fancy costumes in progressive dancing from one organization house to another; Indiana University's crack "distinguished college" R. O. T. C. unit will stage a military review and a spectacular bombardment and assault on Assembly Hall; dancing afternoon and evening in the big open air pavilion. receptions, band concerts, orchestra concerts, and recitals by the chorus and glee clubs are among the thousand and one other features of the 1922 commencement which will make it one of the biggest commencement festivals ever staged at any university in the middle West.

President William Lowe Bryan

THE name and the service and the inspiration of this man are synonomous with the greatness of Indiana University.

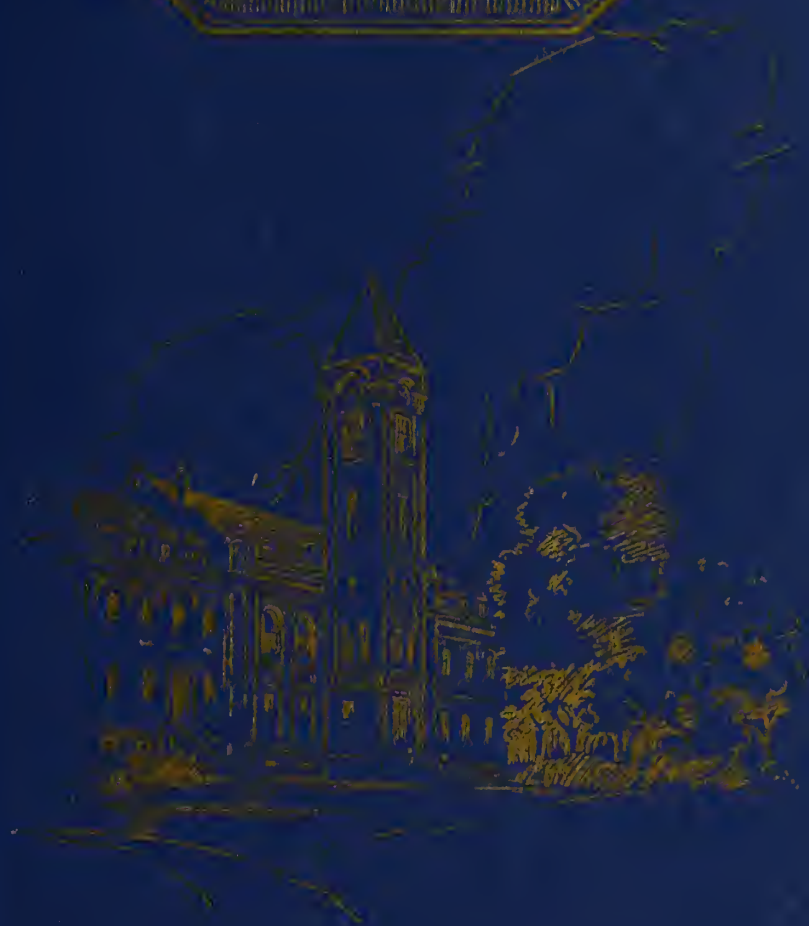

Kindly but indomitable, a practical idealist, a scholar and an executive, is Indiana's president.

Dr. Bryan's broad vision into the future and his leadership in long years of service have made him, more than any other single individual, the moving force for the Greater Indiana.

He has brought the University to the threshold of a mighty future.

LAW

The Arbutus

DEAN W. M. HEPBURN

The Law School

THE Indiana University School of Law ranks as one of the strongest in the United States and is regarded as one of the two best in the West. Its faculty is not surpassed.

Prof. William M. Hepburn is dean of the Law School. He instructs in the following subjects: Conflicts of law, code pleading, torts, and common law pleading. Judge J. J. LaFollette has classes in criminal law, evidence, sales, constitutional law, wills and administration, mortgages and practice court. The subjects of contracts, equity, private corporations and suretyship are taught by Prof. Paul V. McNutt. Prof. Merrill I. Schnebly has classes in property, trusts, and persons and domestic relations. Prof. William E. Britton instructs in commercial contracts, agency and negotiable instruments. Prof. Amos Hershey is instructor in international law.

The home of the School of Law is in Maxwell Hall, where there is a law library of more than twelve thousand volumes. The course of study consists of four sessions, two of these sessions being each year. In 1901 the required course was lengthened from two years to three.

The pre-legal entrance requirements were at first somewhat elastic. The candidate for a law degree had to "satisfy the faculty of the school that he is prepared by previous training to enter upon the required course of study." To complete the course in the department now, six semesters are required. The instruction used is the case method with the requirement of collateral reading.

The Law School was originally located in a downtown building, but upon the completion of Maxwell Hall, it was moved to the building where the present offices are located. Due to its rapid growth, the Law School was moved into Kirkwood Hall and later, owing to the continued growth, moved into Wylie Hall. In 1907 it was again moved into Maxwell Hall.

Senior Law Officers

POSEY T. KIME. President.
GILBERT P. ADAMS. Vice-President.

CLARENCE O. MILLER. Class Orator.
CLAUDE V. BARKER. Secretary-Treasurer.

This year there are twenty-two graduates from the Law School. The officers of the senior class are Posey T. Kime, president; Gilbert P. Adams, vice-president; Clarence O. Miller, class orator, and Claude V. Barker, secretary-treasurer.

The Indiana Law School has many traditions. Among these are the distinctive dress worn by the members of the junior and senior law classes. This year the distinctive apparel of the seniors was ebony walking sticks. The juniors usually wear distinctive vests.

Phi Delta Phi

PHI DELTA PHI was founded at the University of Michigan by John M. Howard in 1869. It is a professional law fraternity. Foster Chapter was installed at Indiana University in 1900. The chapter maintains rooms in Maxwell Hall.

The purpose of the fraternity is to maintain a high standard among students of law, laying particular emphasis on scholarship. Phi Delta Phi has chapters in a large number of the leading law schools of the United States. There are also eleven alumni organizations.

Gamma Eta Gamma

GAMMA ETA GAMMA, national professional fraternity for students and practitioners of law, was founded at the University of Maine by Judge Gardner, of the Boston bar, February 25, 1901. Since its organization it has enjoyed a rapid growth among recognized law schools which require the accredited two years of pre-law work and three years of law for the Bachelor of Law degree. The fraternity has for its aim the promotion of good fellowship in the legal profession and the maintenance of high standards therein. Eligibility is based on scholarship and prominence in University activities.

Eta Chapter was established at Indiana University in 1911. The chapter has rooms in the Student Building.

The members as they appear in the picture are:

Demurrer Club

THE Demurrer Club embraces in membership the entire faculty of the School of Law and the leading law and pre-law students. The purposes of the organization are to teach a proper understanding of the ethics of the legal profession and to encourage the maintenance of a high standard of scholarship.

Practical talks are given at regular meetings of the Demurrer Club by noted barristers of the state. Banquets and smokers are also given by the organization.

THE INDIANA UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

ROBERT W. LONG HOSPITAL

Riley Memorial Hospital

SHORTLY after the death of James Whitcomb Riley, the poet laureate of America, a number of his friends held numerous meetings to consider the most appropriate memorial for the Hoosier Poet, and the suggestion of a children's hospital appealed most strongly to them.

The act of the Indiana General Assembly authorizing the establishment of the hospital places the final responsibility in the Board of Trustees of Indiana University.

The Riley Hospital for Children will be established on a site adjacent to the Robert W. Long Hospital on the south, the Indiana University School of Medicine on the east and the Indianapolis City Hospital on the north, thus centralizing these four institutions in close proximity and surrounding them with a convalescent park, which is already assured by the City of Indianapolis as its contribution to the hospital, and where the patients may enjoy fresh air and sunshine.

In Memoriam

IN the untimely death of Dr. Albert C. Kimberlin last December, the Medical School suffered a tragic loss.

Dr. Kimberlin was a prototype of the self-made man. He worked his way through medical school, educating himself along literary lines in odd moments. After his graduation in 1884, he served an internship in the City Hospital, then began the practice of medicine in Indianapolis. In his thirty-five years of practice he was unusually successful. He held many positions of honor in social and medical societies.

He became a member of the faculty soon after his graduation and retained his position until his tragic death.

Dr. Kimberlin was respected and admired by all who knew him. His students all loved and honored him for his kindly manner, helpful instruction, and sage guidance.

Social Service Department

THE Social Service Department of Indiana University is a teaching department of the College of Liberal Arts. It is located in Indianapolis with the School of Medicine. The department has two important functions—the teaching of Liberal Art students, both graduate and undergraduate, medical students, and student nurses—and the social care of patients in the Robert W. Long Hospital and the Indianapolis City Dispensary. The department, since its organization in 1911, has come into possession of many resources for teaching purposes. Nearly 10,000 individuals have been patients of the department, all of whom have records on file in the department. This offers teaching material concerning every known social problem. The facilities for research and practical work are unusual, and excellent opportunities are offered to students in graduate work. The case work done by students is supervised by instructors.

In the social care of patients of the hospital and dispensary the department endeavors to carry on social treatment, which has as its aim the promotion and accomplishment of the doctor's plan of treatment—a plan which takes into account the personal and environmental elements, as well as the medical.

Alpha Omega Alpha

ALPHA OMEGA ALPHA is a non-secret senior honorary medical society. Membership is based on scholarship, moral qualifications being satisfactory. It was organized in Chicago in 1902, and is the only society of the kind in the medical schools of America. It seeks to encourage high ideals of thought and action in schools of medicine, and to promote the best in professional practice.

Indiana University School of Medicine was admitted as Alpha of Indiana in 1916. The present total chapter membership, including faculty members, is sixty.

Bloomington Medics

THE work of the Indiana University School of Medicine is divided between Indianapolis and Bloomington. In 1903 the Indiana University School of Medicine became the fourth medical school in the United States to set the standard of two years or more of collegiate work as the minimum requirement for entrance.

The first year's subjects are given only at Bloomington and the last three years' work only at Indianapolis. Every year witnesses an increasing number of freshman medical students, and this year there are nearly one hundred enrolled in the class at Bloomington.

Owen Hall is "the home of the freshman medics." Dr. B. D. Myers is the head of the Bloomington school. Dr. J. A. Badertscher has charge of the instruction of microscopical anatomy and neurology. Dr. W. J. Moenkhaus is professor of physiology.

The Class of 1922

THIS year is our sixth and last in the preparation for the practice of medicine. In the year 1916 one hundred and ninety freshmen in Indiana University indicated their desire to study medicine. Eight members of our graduating class were among that number. The bugbears of pre-med students, chemistry, embryology and physics, started the reducing process.

Besides this nucleus of eight, our class is composed of students from other schools, returned world war veterans, and students whose peculiar aptitude, in some particular subject, has led them to drop back a year or so to assist in teaching, or to study again, that subject.

It has been a long grind, these last six years—but we have enjoyed it. As freshmen pre-medics, we were the humblest of the humble, thrilled at the sight of cadavers, pleased with our rapidly developing ability to roll off our tongues the polysyllabic nomenclature of zoology, proud of our chemistry-stained hands.

As sophomores we began the development of our class consciousness.

In our third year, we reached the zenith of our college career. We were Medics—proud, learned gentlemen, mysogenistic in tendency, asocially inclined, living as monks in our monastery, Owen Hall. But a change crept into our attitude during this year. We really had begun the study of a life vocation.

As sophomores in Indianapolis, we again became the humblest of the humble, held in awe by the lordly juniors and godlike seniors.

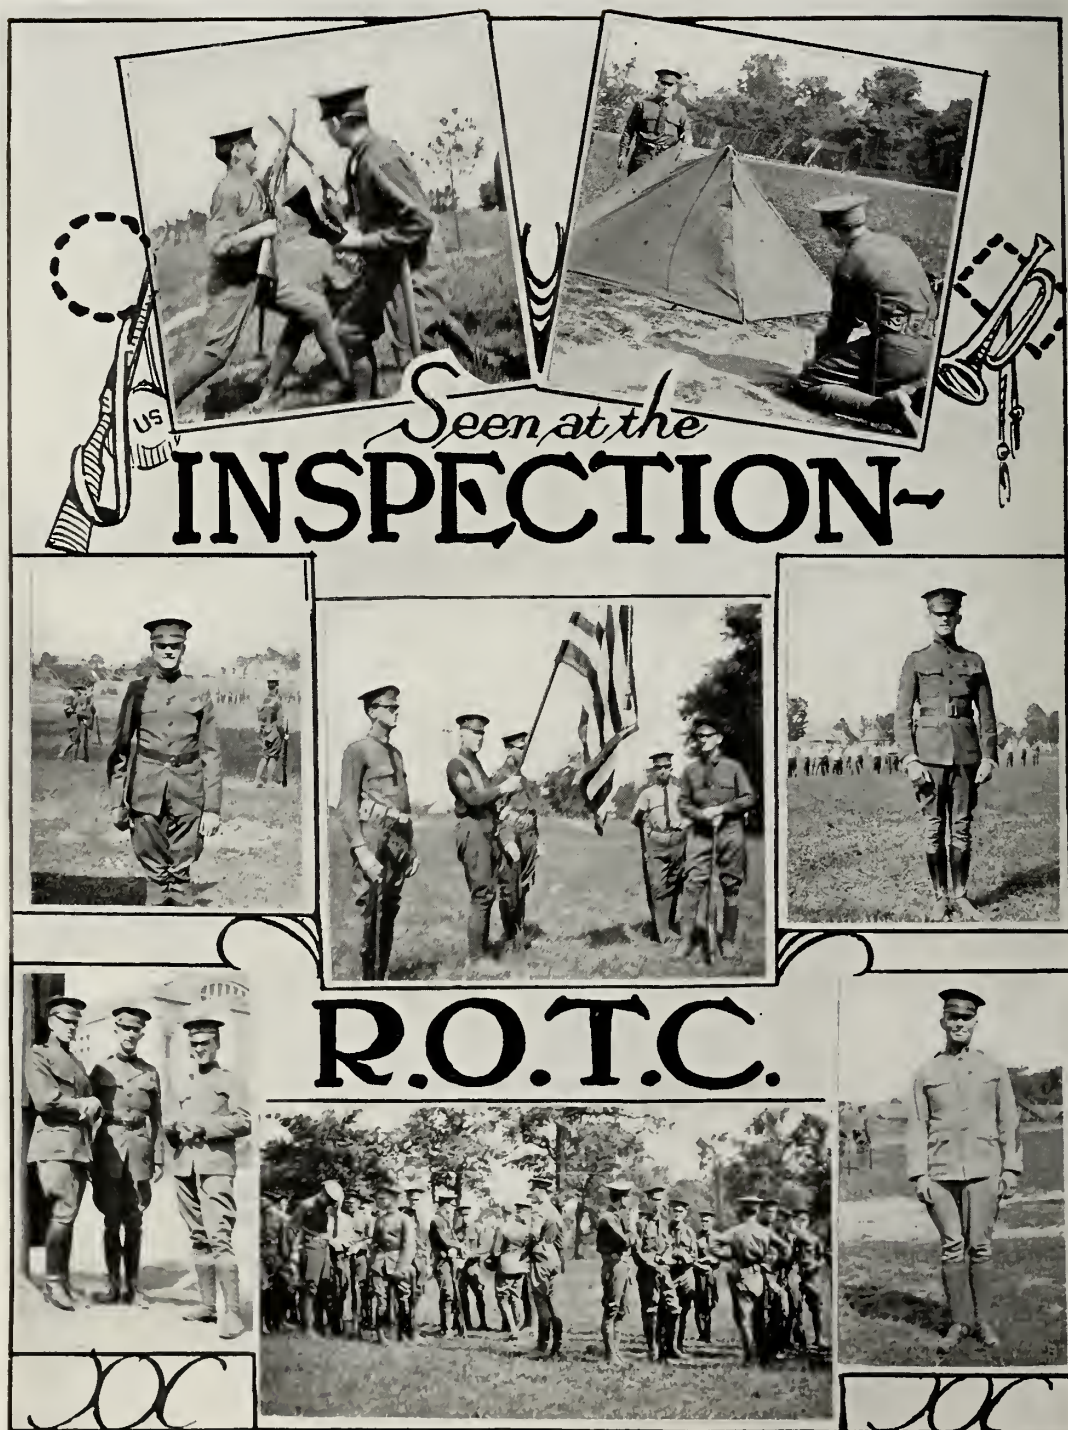

In our junior year we began tugging at the leash, confident of our complete knowledge of all human ills and of our ability to cure them.

Finally came our senior year, the final touching up and glossing over. With the goal, June seventh, in sight, we buckled down again to earnest endeavor. Internships and locations provided the topics for conversation. For amusement we experimented in the science of drawing to split straights or made mathematical observations on the recurrence of numbers seven and eleven in a series.

The class spirit was not lost—is not lost—will not be lost. Though we spread to the four winds after June seventh, we will still retain memories of these days—and cherish them.

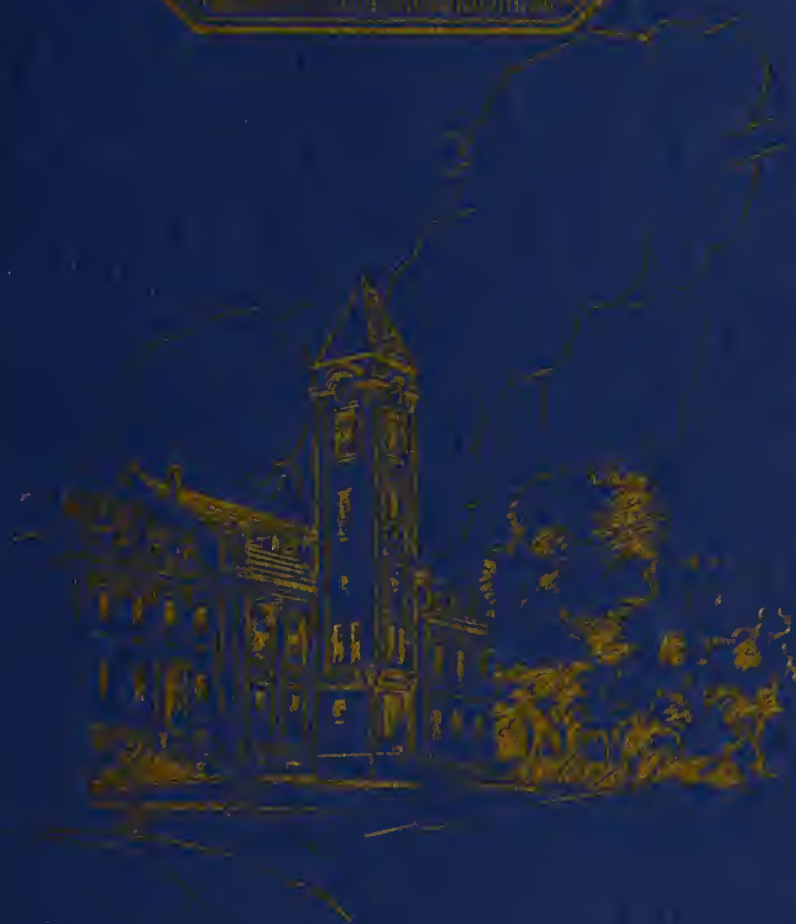

Six years—it has been a long grind, but we have enjoyed it all. It has been well worth while.

COMPANY A PASSING IN REVIEW

Distinguished College

CARRYING on from its first victory, the attainment of "Distinguished College" rating in 1920, the Indiana University unit of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps put in a strenuous year of training in preparation for the inspection of 1921. Major R. E. O'Brien, commandant, and his assistants in the department followed practically the same plans as during the previous year. Cadet Lieutenant-Colonel Noble C. Butler, who headed the cadet organization the first year, was advanced to the rank of Cadet Colonel during the first semester. He was succeeded by Cadet Colonel David G. Wylie the second semester.

The inspection of the unit by Colonel Robert Fleming last May found the unit in the same first class condition as the first inspection, and for the second time the University was nationally honored by being designated as a "Distinguished College." This rating means that Indiana University has one of the twenty best units of the R. O. T. C. among more than two hundred units in the United States.

THE COLOR GUARD

The work of the present year started auspiciously with increased enrollments in both basic and advanced courses, additional officers assigned to the University, and the unit completely equipped. Captain Warner W. Carr, a former Indiana University student and a graduate of West Point, who had been assigned here in May, 1921, was advanced to the rank of Major early this year. In addition, Captain Robert H. Neely, '08, and Captain Arthur J. Perry were stationed with the unit. Captain Neely received his LL. B. degree from

MASS GAMES

Indiana University with the class of 1908, and is a graduate of the Infantry School at Camp Benning. Captain Perry was a National Guard officer for many years previous to his assignment to active duty during the world war. Major Carr was battalion commander of the Ninth Infantry in France during the war. Cadet Colonel Phillip McAllister has been at the head of the unit during the entire year.

Enrollment in the advanced courses of instruction for junior and senior students, which is voluntary, has more than doubled this year. Records in the R. O. T. C. headquarters show that four students will be eligible to receive reserve commissions this year, twelve in 1922 and at least thirty-one in 1923.

Outstanding accomplishments of the Indiana unit during the past year, in a material way, have been the construction of two additional gallery ranges

PART OF THE DAY'S WORK

Indiana at Camp Knox

WHEN the call for the summer encampment of R. O. T. C. units of the Fourth and Fifth Army Corps areas at Camp Knox, Kentucky, was sounded last summer, thirty students from the Indiana University unit responded and set out to maintain the reputation set by the school at Camp Custer the previous year. At the first camp, Indiana University men, in competition with the representatives of units in the Fifth Corps area, had ranked high individually and as a group won the Roosevelt cup for superiority in scholarship, morale and athletics.

For the second time the Roosevelt cup was brought back to Major O'Brien's headquarters, giving the Indiana unit permanent possession of the trophy. Second place for the entire camp of twenty-five schools was awarded Indiana, carrying with it the right to a silver band around the unit's colors.

Homer L. Warrick was awarded the camp medal presented to the best all-around student in the Advance Camp.

The entire personnel of the Department of Military Science and Tactics, with the exception of Sergeant Gibson and Technical Sergeant Harris, attended the camp and were prominent among the instructors.

Second Row—Henke, Albertson, Kroggel, Hanna, Henderson.

With the organization of rifle teams in the R. O. T. C. units of the Fifth Corps area, Indiana men again stepped into the military limelight.

This year found improved shooting in all schools and keener competition as a result. Dual matches with DePauw University, Lafayette College and the University of Kentucky were shot and won by comfortable margins. Fourth place in the corps area shoot was awarded Indiana this year, entitling the rifle team to compete in the National Intercollegiate rifle match later in the year.

Celebrities

Here's a Johnston known as "Lib."
 She's very much alive:
 She raised some Cain—that is no fib,
 To put across the drive.

This funny looking, dizzy cuss
 Stirred both the school and nation.
 By shaking shekels out of us,
 He got us a vacation.

Like the piper lured the vermin
 From all the cracks and corners,
 Jack Hastings gives a sermon
 And gathers college honors.

What ho! for Wilb the playwright,
With drama he is through;
He cooes at Dearest day and night—
Great lovers are these two.

To Florida with might and main,
The Glee Club longed to roam;
They couldn't get Jack on the train,
And so they stayed at home.

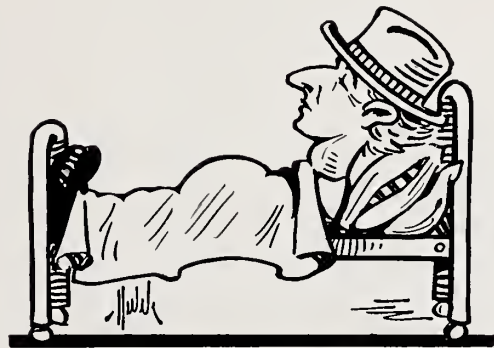

You're looking at the army vet
That wrote "Historic Treasures."
He won his beard upon a bet
And lost it for our pleasures.

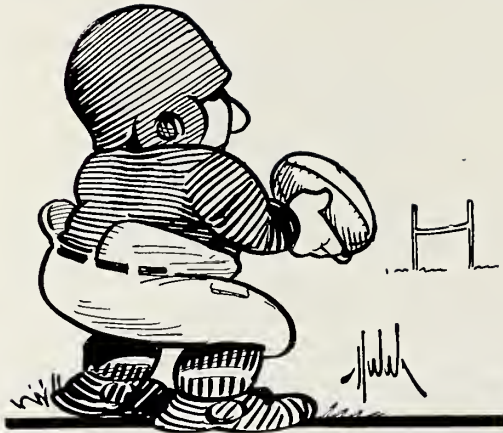

Jim Adams is a guy that talks—
He'll die before he'll stop;
With his brief case he stalks
Stuff on love, or open shop.

They drag him off to operate.
And to the bed they pin him;
They think that he has met his fate,
But find there's nothing in him.

Chub Hinkle with his flash and gun
Obstructs Romance's way;
He's teaching students how to run
When off the path they stray.

Just gaze upon this sickly child—
Yes, Johnny is his name.
His drop kick was a little wild,
But still it won the game.

Oh, Virgil Reed is full of gloom,
Of that there is no doubt;
For he disturbs the reading room
By kicking people out.

Here's good old Dog Town's pride and joy,
For deans she swings a pen;
If Susie just had been a boy,
She could be dean of men.

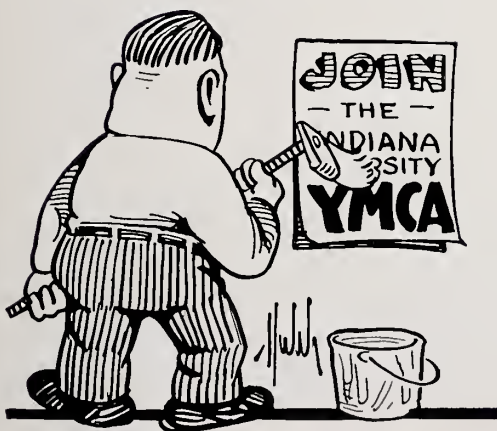

John Ed has always played the clown,
Gewalt, oy weh es mir.
His Union Show was done up brown;
We'll miss those feet next year.

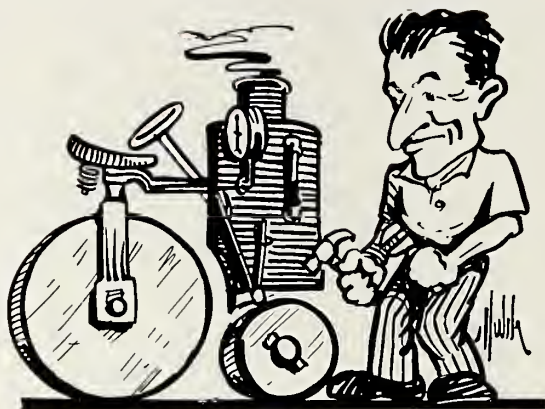

A Sigma Delta Chi is Cog,
He used to run the Student;
He mired the paper in a bog,
He wasn't even prudent.

Our Tiny is a married man
And also hale and hearty,
For he eats more than two men can
At every Y. M. party.

Stiehm's roller is made of cast iron,
It hits 'em hard and smashes through;
With Ross as throttle and Wilkens siren,
It flattened out dear old Purdue.

Look at the hod. No, not a sword,
It's used both late and early;
Brings mortar for the Mortar Board—
O, yes; it's Mary Shirley.

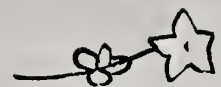

"Let George do it" is the cry
That greets this little Booster;
His duties keep him on the fly
Just like a banty rooster.

Dramatics

Union Revue

THE 1922 Union Revue will be presented on the successive nights of May 16 and 17. John Leonard, the director, has assembled an all-star cast of actors and assistants. The production, which is named "Howdy Hector," is a scream.

The action centers about the search for the Missing Link, which character is taken by Hoagland Carmichael. Lindsey B. Huffer appears as the leading lady, and Dick Mills as Hector Jinks, leading man. Comedy characters are taken by E. E. Linegar, Lawrence Bass, Lowell Miles and Fleming Johnson. Other principals are Maurice Yarling, Ted Keisker, William Pierce, Paul Parker, Frank Cox, Findley Wright and Charles Milholland.

Other members of the directing committee are Robert E. Harris, Charles Robinson, Hoagland Carmichael, William G. McCaw, Charles Hays and Wilbur Cogshall.

The Jordan River Revue

THE most successful student dramatic effort in years. This is the acclaim given to the "Jordan River Revue," a musical comedy presented by a cast of nearly one hundred students under the direction of Mr. Charles Hays.

The "Jordan River Revue" was played first on March 2 before a crowd which packed Assembly Hall to capacity. Its success was so great that it was given at the Murat Theater at Indianapolis on April 11 as a part of the Memorial Campaign. Here it was well received and was given the highest commendation by the dramatic critics of the Indianapolis newspapers.

Vern Ruble and Rowland Nichols were the business managers for the production. Helen Coblentz and James Adams were in actual charge of the directorship. The lyrics were written by Katherine Rice, and the music by Walter Stiner. Prominent in the cast were Clarence O. Miller, Lois Grimes, Katherine Wyatt, Felix Cadou, George Highway, Lowell Miles, Margaret McLeland, Harry Carleton, Benita Monarch, Jane Sickles, Robert Milholland and Ned Elliott.

SIGMA KAPPA STUNT

The Show Down

THE "Show Down," a varied series of organization dramatic stunts given under the auspices of the Garrick Club, was this year most successful. The first attempt toward this sort of thing was started last spring, and soon materialized as the first "Show Down." Silver cups are awarded by the Garrick Club to the winners of the women's and men's organization stunts. The winners of the first annual "Show Down" were the Sigma Kappas and the Beta Theta Pis.

This year the "Show Down" had twenty-seven participating organizations, necessitating that the entertainment be extended over two nights. The first series of thirteen stunts was given before a crowd of two thousand people in Assembly Hall. The hall was also filled to capacity for the second night, on which fourteen dramatic skits were presented.

The "Show Down" of this year was held earlier than last year. The performances were given on December 8 and 9. A variety of excellent dramatic talent was uncovered among the scores of students who participated. Without exception the stunts were ingenious and clever, and some of them approached being finished dramatic productions.

BETAS CARRY OFF HONORS

THE prize for the men's organizations was awarded by the committee of judges to the Kappa Sigma Fraternity. The Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority received the cup for presenting the best stunt among the women's organizations. At least four of the fraternities merited high honor and ranked closely with the winners. They were Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Psi, Lambda Chi and Indiana Club. The Delta Gammas ranked closely behind the Thetas in the scoring of the judges.

Music for the stunts and during the intermissions was furnished by Walter Stiner's orchestra.

The "Show Down" was a most happy conception on the part of the Garrick Club. It has been participated in with enthusiasm for two years, and bids fair to grow to almost unwieldy proportions next year. It provides two evenings of real entertainment.

W. A. A. Vaudeville

A PANORAMIC VIEW of a coed's college life was awarded the prize in the W. A. A. vaudeville last fall. Horseback riding with its tumbles and disillusionments was shown by one energetic sophomore astride a mop handle. The show completed a week of publicity by the organization, and only the tired, feminine students were admitted for one nickel each.

The juniors gave a caricature of prominent girls on the campus in their skit entitled "How to Become a Model Coed." The freshmen showed life on the campus with the Junior Prom and the big brass band playing the leading part. "Johnny Smoker's Band" was given by the seniors with much vigor and a finish to their work, which made the act a proper one to bring down the curtain as the end.

Statues of Lord Macphail

THE secret of Pandora's box, the charm of an enchanted pool and the romance of Radja and Krishna were only a few of the dances portrayed in the dance drama, "The Statues of Lord Macphail," given by the dancing classes of Miss Gertrude Noetzel. With the rise of the curtain, University folk were taken from the land of smoke-ups to a land of enchantment where fairies danced from sunrise to sunset.

ALCESTIS

The story opened with the lantern lighter calling Lord Macphail into the garden where the lights before his most precious pieces of statuary had been snuffed out six times. When the lights went out the seventh time the statues came to life, and the girls went to the seven corners of the earth. The sights and adventures which they encountered in the world of men formed the story upon which the dances were based.

The dancers included Sarah Cogshall, Dorothy Arndt, Portia Cooper, Irene Duffey, Hazel Frazer, Elizabeth Gentry, Helen Kidwell, Margaret Moist, Jane Sickles, Vivian Webster, Betty Weintz, and Margaret Wight.

THE UNIVERSITY FROM THE AIR

Above is the first airplane view ever taken of the Indiana University campus. It was "snapped" from a plane flying at an altitude of about six hundred feet and just west of the campus.

UNIVERSITY RADIO STATION

FOR some years the physics department at Indiana has experimented with wireless sets, but not until this year has interest in radio become so active as to make the set in Science Hall a center of attraction. Wireless concerts are heard almost every evening over the University radio, which is operated under the direction of Prof. R. R. Ramsey, of the physics department.

ON THE NORTH SACK

The Class Scrap

THE freshman-sophomore class scrap of 1921 was no more memorable than those of many previous years, but none was ever more fiercely fought. The clash was won by the freshmen through their preponderant manpower.

The scrap was staged on Dunn Meadow in the early fall under the supervision of the Boosters' Club. Dean C. E. Edmondson, Major R. E. O'Brien and Prof. Paul McNutt served in the capacity of officials. The fight ranged about three enormous cubic sacks stuffed with straw. These sacks were placed on a line in the center of the field. The opposing classes lined up their forces at the east and west ends and rushed for the sacks at the crack of the pistol.

The affair was well organized on the part of the scrap leaders of the underclassmen, and there was no undue concentration of forces on a single sack. The huge bales were buffeted back and forth in the mire, for the field was inches deep in mud, and the contestants were plastered from head to foot.

When the time expired the freshmen had pushed two of the sacks completely across the sophomore line and held a distinct advantage on the third one. The sophomores had put up a game battle, but the superior numbers of the rhinies were not to be denied.

THE BATTLE IN THE SOUTH

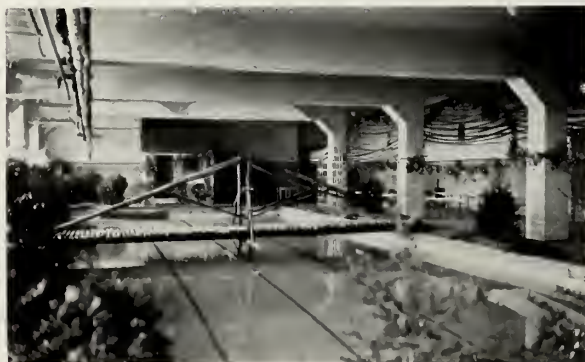

THE GRAND MARCH

The Junior Prom

THE Junior Prom of 1922 was possibly the most elaborate formal dance ever held on the Indiana campus. The music furnished by Konchar's orchestra, of Chicago, was unsurpassed by any that has ever been heard in the halls of I. U. The decorations, which caused surprised comment from all who were privileged to be present, were planned by Charles Hayes, working with the committee. They consisted of a low false ceiling of green branches. Around the walls were graceful white posts upon which were mounted blue globes of light. At the corners were carefully planned nooks for the chaperons and guests.

With a view to furnishing other entertainment, card tables were arranged in the Trophy room, and in the swimming pool room was to be found the rendezvous for the famished. Little individual tables were placed on the edges of the pool, where lunch was served by the Domestic Science Club.

The features of the Junior Prom consisted of the grand march, led by the prom queen, Miss Anne Craig, and the junior class president, Harry Carleton. The moonlight dance and the balloon dance were never-to-be-forgotten features

All mingled together in what was probably the most democratic formal affair ever held in Indiana.

The Junior Prom of 1921 was also an affair featured by elaborate decorations. The gymnasium hall was hung in a false ceiling of streamers and myriads of balloons. The swimming pool was spanned by a rustic bridge.

The Indiana Daily Student

THE INDIANA DAILY STUDENT, member of the Associated Press, has increased in scope and dignity during the past year, until it has been recognized by students and citizens as an asset to the community. Local, state, national and international news are given in a direct style. The University news, activities, and plans are completely covered by the staff. The Student is Monroe county's only morning paper.

The Student staff is made up of journalism students, from editor-in-chief to reporters. J. Wymond French, instructor of journalism, is in general charge of the students. The Style Sheet, drawn up in conformity with the best standards of the metropolitan daily, is strictly adhered to. The organization and direction of the staff under the editor-in-chief follow the practical method of newspaper management. Walter Brodhecker, editor for the summer session; Wilbur B. Cogshall, editor first semester, and Mark S. Trueblood, editor second semester, have in turn maintained and added to the character of the paper.

WILBUR B. COGSHALL, Editor-in-Chief, First Semester.
 SUSIE M. KAMP, Women's Editor.
 NELSON POYNTER, City Editor, Second Semester.
 ERNEST PYLE, City Editor, First Semester.

Daily Student Editors

The 1922 Arbutus

THE 1922 Yearbook has taken on the spirit of greater things—the spirit inspired by the great Memorial Fund achievement. Yet the Arbutus is a picture book, and a complete pictorial history for the year. The editors have presented this year a Book which is characteristic in the main of Indiana University. Scenes from the air and scenes from the stage, the athlete in glory, and the grind in his dungeon, have been portrayed in photo and story. The board of editors have striven to make this Yearbook worthy of one of the greatest years in the history of Indiana.

ARBUTUS BOARD OF BUSINESS MANAGERS

J. Edwin Purple, President; Winthrop Kellogg, Secretary; William L. Reed, Treasurer; Judge Ira C. Batman, Trustee Member; Prof. W. A. Cogshall, Faculty Member; Barton A. Rhinehart, Medical School Member.

Arbutus Board of Business Managers

THE Board of Managers is the financial rock of the Yearbook enterprise. The managers attend to and control the business, the advertising, and the subscriptions. This year the Book used the new Molloy cover, an added expense which made the cover most attractive. The 1922 Arbutus cost more than any Book previous to last year. The Board made quick sale of the first edition of 1,300 volumes with an early subscription of 550 on the campus, exclusive of the seniors.

The Red Book

THE RED BOOK, student directory and "bible," has become an indispensable reference to students throughout the year. The little publication has grown in dignity and usefulness, beyond serving as a reference for Campus date seekers. It is an invaluable guide for University business, as well as Campus activities.

This year the Red Book included a social calendar of University dances, receptions, and entertainments. For the first time the class standing of students was given in the organization directory. The red and black embossed cover used this year is considered the most attractive in which the little book has ever appeared.

The preface of this year's Red Book expressed the purpose of the book thus: "As your friends at Indiana University increase in number, may this little book become of growing service to you in forming a closer acquaintance with old I. U." A picture of President W. L. Bryan appeared this year, and pictures of University buildings. The phrase, "It is in the Red Book," has become the common solution of campus arguments.

Arthur L. Miller was the editor of the publication this year, and Emil W. Fisher business manager. Both men were elected to their offices the spring semester of last year, and were able to get much of the work done during the summer. Mary Shirley was associate editor and Janet Woodburn assistant. The editor and business manager are elected by a committee of the Advisory Board of the Y. M. C. A. in consultation with the general secretary.

THE PARADE IN THE RAIN

Armistice Day

NEARLY two thousand students, ex-service men, faculty members and townspeople braved a drizzling rain to attend the annual Armistice Day celebration of the University, held on Jordan Field November 11.

The exercises were preceded by a parade, in which ex-service men, the R. O. T. C. and the University band took part. The R. O. T. C. fired a salute and played "taps." Elmore Sturgis, '19, made a speech, presenting the University with a bronze tablet upon which are inscribed the names of the Indiana men who gave up their lives in the world war. The gift was accepted by President William Lowe Bryan.

Lieut.-Col. Paul V. McNutt acted as master of ceremonies. Major Albert T. Rich, of the Indiana National Guard, made the principal address, praising the loyalty and patriotism of Indiana University men in the world war, and complimenting the R. O. T. C. upon its excellent showing during the year.

Debating Team

DEBATING at Indiana University was organized on a new enlarged plan this year, by which several strong teams were produced. Promising lower classmen were trained and seasoned, and post-graduates enrolled in the Law School were active members of the squad. Debaters from the journalism, history, and law courses used varied methods of attack. The Triangular Debate Series this year for the state championship involved twelve colleges and universities. Indiana met in this series, Franklin, Butler, Notre Dame, and Central. The second annual dual contest with Ohio State was an additional forensic event. The question in all the debates was: "Resolved, That the principle of the closed shop is justifiable."

Prize Winners

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA ALUMNAE PRIZE

This is a cash prize given annually by the alumnae of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority to the most deserving girl student of the University. It was won this year by Ruth Bourne, a senior in the history department, who has ranked exceptionally high in scholarship during her four years at Indiana and who has earned most of her way while in school.

GIMBEL PRIZE

The Gimbel Prize, consisting of the interest on five hundred dollars and a gold medal, is awarded annually to some member of the junior or senior class who participates in some branch of athletics, for "merit in habits, college spirit, application and sincerity." It was awarded in 1921 to E. Wesley Mumby, '21.

BRYAN PRIZE

Arthur L. Miller, '22, won the William Jennings Bryan Prize for 1922. The prize, which consists of the interest on two hundred and fifty dollars for one year, is awarded on Foundation Day, for the "best oration dealing with the principles underlying our government." The subject this year was "Unemployment."

LOCKE PRIZE

The Locke Prize is a cash award for the best essay on a subject dealing with southern history. It was won in 1921 by Guy Bess.

CONFERENCE MEDAL

Everett Dean was the Indiana man awarded the Conference Medal for scholarship and athletics for 1921. A similar medal is given in each of the Conference universities annually.

Sigma Delta Chi

RHIO CHAPTER of Sigma Delta Chi was organized from the old Press Club at Indiana University in 1913. The organization is an honorary Greek letter fraternity of national scope for college men who aim to adopt journalism as a profession. Members are chosen for marked ability shown in journalistic work while at the university.

"The Blanket Hop," the annual football dance, given under the auspices of Sigma Delta Chi after the Homecoming game, was this year the largest dance ever given at the University. The proceeds were used to purchase "I" blankets for the graduating "I" men.

Sigma Delta Chi also has traditionally selected "Resurrection Day" the official date on which straw hats are to appear on the campus. Sigma Delta Chi stands for the betterment of the journalistic profession.

Theta Alpha Phi

THETA ALPHA PHI, national honorary dramatic fraternity, was founded at the Oklahoma A. & M. College in 1919, and is the only national collegiate organization of its kind.

The purpose of Theta Alpha Phi is to promote a more thorough and discriminating appreciation of true dramatic art, to create a more general and far-reaching interest in that art, and to recognize and encourage individual proficiency of a distinguished nature in the field of dramatics.

The charter roll of the organization includes eighteen state universities, the University of Hawaii, and eleven of the larger colleges throughout the United States.

Indiana Alpha chapter was installed in Indiana University on the evening of February 15, this year—Orville C. Miller, representative and former president of Oregon Alpha chapter, presiding.

The colors of the fraternity are royal purple and pure white.

Young Men's Christian Association

THE work of the Y. M. C. A. on the Indiana campus this year is divided into three major departments. In the department of campus service it attempts to make a university education possible for a larger number of men needing financial and other assistance to help solve the moral problems of the campus life; and to co-operate in creating a constructive social atmosphere. In the department of community service the greatest work was done by the deputation teams which were sent out to towns over the state. The work of the boys' clubs and the High-Y organizations in the high schools were marks of true constructive merit. In the field of religious education the Bible discussion groups were leading factors. The Bible classes, while under the direction of the church council, were fostered and encouraged by the Y. M. C. A.

The members of the Council as they appear in the picture are:

Aeons

THE AEONS, a society of junior and senior men, was organized March 29, 1921. The purpose of the organization is to bring about greater co-operation between the student body and the faculty and to further the best interests of Indiana University. It is the duty of the Aeons to crystalize student opinion on problems confronting the University and to represent the student viewpoint in deliberations of the faculty.

Members of the Aeons are appointed by President Bryan from nominations made by the organization. Membership is limited to not more than twelve and not less than eight men who have junior standing in the University and who have shown exceptional ability in either leadership or scholarship. No publicity is given the activities of the Aeons.

The members as they appear in the picture are:

Outing Club

OUTING CLUB celebrates its first anniversary this spring. The club was organized in April, 1921, and already has a membership of more than one hundred and forty. The purpose of the organization is to promote all kinds of outdoor activities among the University women. Membership in Outing Club is open to all University women.

This year Outing Club offered sports in seven different departments. Horse-back riding, with Montana Grinstead as sport head, rapidly came into prominence.

The golf enthusiasts have added many to their number under the able tutelage of Betty Overman. The most novel department in the organization in the club is "Adventure" with Harriett Green as head. Combined with hiking under the direction of Rosalie Esarey many picnics and treasure hunts are planned. Tennis was kept rather in the background during the fall term, but in the spring the lost time will be made up in an All-University tennis tournament.

Intramural Athletic Association

THE INDIANA UNIVERSITY INTRAMURAL ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION is a new organization formed for the purpose of actively encouraging athletic development and competition among the mass of the men students. ## A Gateway to Progress

There it stands—a simple forty-foot gateway but unlike any other in the entire world. Through it have come many of the engineering ideas that have made this an electrical America.

The story of electrical development begins in the Research Laboratories. Here the ruling spirit is one of knowledge—truth—rather than immediate practical results. In this manner are established new theories—tools for future use—which sooner or later find ready application.

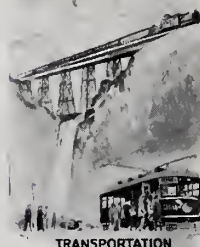

The great industries that cluster around Niagara Falls, the electrically driven battle ships, the trolley cars and electrified railways that carry millions, the household conveniences that have relieved women of drudgery, the labor-saving electrical tools of factories, all owe their existence, partly at least, to the co-ordinated efforts of the thousands who daily stream through this gateway.

The Wisdom of Saving!

Your best asset is a bank account. It cannot depreciate in value, it is the proof of progress.

Every person who has put money in the bank has profited by the wisdom of so doing.

You can never tell when you will need money and it is an easy matter to put part of what you earn in the bank regularly. You must toil regularly, and that is harder than saving regularly.

You can begin a Savings Account here with a Deposit of only One Dollar—or more—just as you prefer.

Seniors and Undergraduates

If you are graduating in the class of 1922 and are interested in Indiana University, why not keep in touch with the University by subscribing for the Indiana Daily Student?

For the undergraduate a bound file of this paper can not be equalled by the best memory book or diary. It is a day by day history of the affairs of the University, a perpetual source of interest and enjoyment.

No matter where you are located, have the Indiana Daily Student delivered by mail or carrier.

C. G. CONN, LTD., Elkhart, Indiana

We supply thousands of University and High School students with our instruments of the exact quality as are supplied by us to the greatest Artists in the World. We mention several organizations of world renown as follows:

John Philip Sousa Band
Washington Marine Band
Patrick Conway Band
Innes Band
Kryl's Band
Kiltie's Band
Isham Jones Jazz Orchestra
Benson's Victor Orchestra

To the Graduate in Medicine:

What is in a discount?

For the past several years competitors have offered a 10% discount to students.

An example

1 Stethoscope	$4.00
Less 10%	.40
	$3.60

Our price on the same thing is $3.50. We leave it to your judgment which is the best buy, all other things being equal.

Remember that when you are not a student our price is the same to the graduated and finished doctor.

OUR POLICY: — QUALITY and SERVICE.

OUR STOCK: — LARGE and well ASSORTED.

OUR PRICES: — JUST a little bit BETTER when QUALITY is considered.

OUR DESIRE: — YOUR FRIENDSHIP and PATRONAGE for the entire time you practice medicine, not just while YOU ARE A STUDENT.

There is a certain responsibility resting on us as a Surgeon's supply house. We appreciate that responsibility and have tried in the past years to preach quality above everything else. We distribute Kny-Scheerer Corporation goods and want you to ask the active man in medicine if there is a superior. Our publication INFECTION preaches quality every month and is full of items that are of interest to the profession. Get your name on the list.

Our CATALOGUE will shortly be off the press, and it will be as complete as any catalogue ever published. The price list will be up to date and you may feel assured that the price we ask is only fair for the superior grade of merchandise listed. Put in your ORDER NOW for this CATALOGUE.

Prices are stable now and we do not believe there will be much of a decline for several years. Furniture may come down and some of the supplies also will decline but the main run will advance rather than decline according to the information we receive from reliable sources.
